

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An input sequence of information segments is repetitively displayed as they approach a transfer location, allowing the operator to copy selected ones of the segments and arrange them into a meaningful output sequence in which some of the segments may appear more than once.